

NATIVE LUAU FOR VISITING TOURISTS

A real Hawaiian feast or luau to the accompaniment of Hawaiian music and enlivened by the old-time native dances has been planned by the Hawaii Promotion Committee for the entertainment of such visitors as have never seen this interesting function. The opportunity is one which arose but recently and has been seized for the benefit of visitors who otherwise might not have the chance to enjoy this unique entertainment.

The feast will be a most complete one in every sense of the word. The Hawaiian staples, pig, fish and poi, will form the central features. The meats will be cooked in true Hawaiian style in the imu or ground-oven. The fish will be wrapped in ti-leaves the covering imparting a distinct flavoring secured in no other way. It is well nigh impossible to enumerate all the Hawaiian delicacies which will constitute such a feast. The kukui nut, ophi, sweet potato, coconuts and lua as well as many other specialties of Hawaii will be on the tables, which in themselves are a feature worth while with their decorations of ferns and leaves, calabashes and wooden dishes.

Arrangements have been made to accommodate one hundred guests, in addition to those for whom the luau is given and those who may wish to avail themselves of the opportunity may make arrangements at any of the hotels, at the office of the Hawaii Promotion Committee or with Trent & Company.

NEW IMMIGRANT STATION RISING

The new immigration station building back of the Channel wharf is rapidly approaching the stage where its size can be appreciated. The skeleton frame work is up and the sides and roof are being inclosed. The structure will be a valuable architectural addition to the waterfront.

Prepared for Croup.—The time wasted in sending for a physician when a child shows symptoms of the croup, often leads to fatal results. A reliable medicine and one that should always be kept in the home ready for immediate use is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It never fails and will prevent the attack if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears. For sale by all Dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., Agents for Hawaii.
